

Site-associated similarity differs among microbiome compartments

Points show the estimated increase in Bray–Curtis dissimilarity for among-site relative to within-site

● BH-adjusted $p < 0.05$ ● BH-adjusted $p \geq 0.05$

Larger positive estimates indicate stronger site structuring; models account for repeated plant and plant-pair observations.